If you have a practice of reading the scriptures, we encourage you to continue it and to engage these passages for your time with God. If you don't, consider using the following prompts. A simple pattern to follow is read, reflect, respond, and rest.

Pick one passage. Read it through a couple of times. Note what stands out to you. Consider writing out a verse or part of a passage in a journal. Is there anything that encourages you? Confuses you? Motivates you? What do you learn about God through this passage? What do you learn about yourself? Might God be inviting you to respond in some way? Challenging you? Offering comfort? As you conclude your time, pause and take a second to simply be with God, especially in light of what you've read.
